

AI Prompt Pack: Write 21 Profit-Packed Emails in Minutes

Use these done-for-you AI prompts to instantly generate high-converting emails — even if you have a small list.

Welcome!

This bonus AI Prompt Pack gives you 21 ready-to-use prompts that work with ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, or any AI writing tool. They're designed to help you create short, powerful, and profitable emails — in minutes, not hours.

Simply copy a prompt, paste it into your AI tool, add your topic or link where needed, and you'll instantly get a well-written email draft. Tweak it slightly to match your voice, hit send, and start seeing results. Let's dive in!

Section 1 — Fast-Start Email Prompts (7 Prompts)

Prompt 1: Write a short, friendly email giving my subscribers a quick tip about [topic] that solves [pain point]. Keep it under 120 words, make it conversational, and end with a simple call-to-action linking to [link].

Prompt 2: Help me write an email where I share how I [achieved result] and invite my audience to try it too. Keep the tone casual, use plain language, and encourage clicks to [link].

Prompt 3: Create an email where I tell my subscribers I discovered [tool/strategy] that helps with [pain point]. Make it sound natural, like I'm sharing a tip with a friend. End with a link to [link].

Prompt 4: Write an email explaining how [tool/strategy] saved me [time/money] and why my audience should check it out. Keep the email under 110 words, add curiosity, and make the CTA simple.

Prompt 5: Write an email showing how [solution/tool] fixes [pain point]. Make it friendly, easy to read, and invite readers to click [link] for more info.

Prompt 6: Draft a short email telling a 2–3 sentence story about [how I solved problem], then connect it to recommending [tool/product]. Keep it under 130 words.

Prompt 7: Write a short how-to email showing my audience how to [achieve goal] in 3 easy steps. Keep it actionable, beginner-friendly, and end with a link to [link].

Section 2 — Affiliate Promo Email Prompts (7 Prompts)

Prompt 8: Write an email recommending [product/tool] to my audience. Mention how it solves [pain point] and why I personally like it. Keep it friendly and under 120 words.

Prompt 9: Help me write a short email teasing [product/tool] without giving away all the details. Build curiosity, mention one big benefit, and include my affiliate link [link].

Prompt 10: Write an email showing what life was like before [product/tool] and how it improved things after I started using it. Keep it light, conversational, and end with my affiliate link [link].

Prompt 11: Create a short email showing that [product/tool] actually works. Mention a real or hypothetical result, keep the tone simple, and add a clear call-to-action to [link].

Prompt 12: Write an email where I share a personal reason why I like [product/tool] and why I think my subscribers would too. Make it feel authentic, short, and persuasive.

Prompt 13: Draft an email comparing [product/tool] to the typical way people handle [pain point]. Show why this product is better and include a simple CTA to [link].

Prompt 14: Write a short invitation-style email encouraging readers to check out [product/tool] and see how it helps with [pain point]. Keep it under 100 words.

Section 3 — Engagement & Trust-Building Email Prompts (7 Prompts)

Prompt 15: Write an email asking my subscribers what their biggest struggle is with [topic]. Keep it short, casual, and encourage them to reply.

Prompt 16: Create an email asking my audience if they'd like me to send them a free resource about [topic]. Make it sound personal and conversational.

Prompt 17: Write an email with a one-question poll asking my subscribers what they want to learn about: [option 1], [option 2], or [option 3]. Keep it engaging and invite them to reply with their answer.

Prompt 18: Help me write a friendly pre-sell email that warms my audience up for [upcoming product/tool]. Make it educational, hint at benefits, but don't give everything away.

Prompt 19: Write an email where I share 3 short, actionable tips on [topic] to help my subscribers get a quick win. Keep it under 130 words and easy to scan.

Prompt 20: Write an email sharing a personal story or lesson I learned about [topic] and how it could help my audience. Make it warm and authentic.

Prompt 21: Draft an email where I invite my subscribers to something special — like a free training, resource, or bonus — tied to [topic]. Make it conversational and curiosity-driven.

How to Get the Most Out of These Prompts

1. Choose a prompt that fits your email goal.
2. Paste it into ChatGPT, Claude, or any AI writing tool.
3. Replace placeholders like [topic], [link], or [pain point] with your details.
4. Tweak the tone slightly to make it sound like you.
5. Hit send and start seeing results!